We the iooi of the United States of America and Wales and the United Kingdom, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure international Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the iooi Dynasty Fantasy Football League.

Article. I.

The object of the league is to draft and manage a team of National Football League players to score more points than your opponent in a head-to-head match-up on a weekly basis throughout the course of the season and triumph in the annual championship match-up.

The league shall consist of a single division comprised of twelve (12) teams.

Article. II.

League fees shall amount to $2.50 per team, totalling to a $30 prize pool to cover the cost of the coveted championship ring. League fees shall be collected and held by the Commissioner until the end of the season.

Participating in the league without paying the league dues shall result in elimination from the league. Dues ought to be paid prior to the commencement of the first regular season game. In the event an owner cannot submit dues by the due date, they must confirm as such with the league commissioner and provide a date by which dues shall be paid.

Article. III.

The active roster is twenty (20) players - ten (10) starting players and ten (10) bench players. There is in place one (1) Injured Reserve slot available for injured players, and there also exist four (4) Taxi Squad slots. Rookies are eligible to be placed on a team's Taxi Squad after they are drafted, but before Week 1 of the Regular Season. Hereafter, players can be removed from the Taxi Squad but not replaced. A player may reside on the Taxi Squad for a maximum of two seasons.

Ten (10) players constitute the weekly Starting Lineup: One (1) Quarterback, two (2) Running Backs, two (2) Wide Receivers, one (1) Tight End, one (1) Flex Position (Running Back, Wide Receiver, or Tight End), one (1) SuperFlex Position (Quarterbakc, Running Back, Wide Receiver, or Tight End), one (1) Place Kicker, and one (1) Team Defense/Special Teams.

Each Starting Lineup slot shall lock individually at the scheduled game time of the player in each slot.

Ten (10) players constitute the Bench. These players may be comprised of any combination of position players, Team Defense/Special Teams, or Place Kicker.

Each roster has in place one (1) Injured Reserve roster spot designated for injured players. Players listed as "Out", "Suspended", "NA", "DNR/Holdout", "Doubtful", "With Covid-19", or "Injured Reserve" are eligible for the Injured Reserve roster spot on a given week. Players that do not have one of these designations must not be in the Injured Reserve roster spot. A manager may set 3 auto-subs per week. If a starter is inactive for their game, the designated substitute will automatically be placed in the starting lineup.

Article. IV.

All players who are not acquired by means of the draft shall thereafter be placed in the free agency pool following the conclusion of the aforementioned draft. Throughout the duration of this sacred season, owners may elect to acquire players from the free agent pool, but a team's active roster shall not exceed the maximum twenty (20) players. For each player obtained through the means of waivers, an existing player must be dropped unless the roster of the acquiring team holds fewer than twenty (20) players on the active roster at the time the player is acquired. The dropped player is subsequently available for acquisition by any other team. The waiver order shall use the rolling format, in which the order remains the same from week to week– unresponsive to team performance. Players on waivers will be locked upon the start of their week's game. Waivers will clear on Wednesday at 2 AM God's Standard Time each week. Players that are released from a roster will remain on waivers for two (2) days. At which hour a team submits a waiver request, they shall hath be moved to the bottom of the waiver order if the aforementioned request is successful.

Article. V.

On the occasion in which two (2) or more owners desire to trade players and/or draft picks, they may do so. There shall be no limit to the number of trades that any owner may make during the season. There holds a trade deadline of Week 13. All trades need be accepted prior to the conclusion of the final game of this week.

When two (2) or more owners agree upon terms for a trade, the trade shall then be submitted by the participating parties through the prestigious Sleeper league management software. Following the acceptance of the proposed trade offer, the trade review period begins and shall hold for two (2) days. During this two (2) day period, all league owners shall have the ability to cast a vote for or against the trade. If six (6) owners vote against the trade, the trade shall be considered vetoed and shall not be allowed the privilege of processing.

Article. VI.

Free agency shall be strictly forbidden throughout the duration of the offseason upon when the upcoming rookie class is added to the ranks of the Sleeper league management software. No free agency moves are allowed from this point of the offseason. Free agency shall reopen following the annual Rookie Draft. Throughout the duration of the offseason, one (1) bench slot shall be added to provide flexibility for injured players that may or may not be deemed eligible for the Injured Reserve slot throughout the offseason. This bench roster slot shall be removed when the season commences. The annual Rookie Draft shall consist of four (4) rounds and shall be held prior to the first regular season game of the year. Owners shall draft players from a pool of Rookie NFL players. The draft shall have a fixed format. There are no restrictions on the total number of any specific position players a team may draft.

Draft order shall be determined by the previous year's results as follows: The Dynasty Champion shall hold the twelfth (12th) and final draft position. The remaining playoff teams shall hold the draft positions in the reverse order of regular season standings; The highest ranked playoff team– excluding the reigning Dynasty Champion– in regular season standings will hold the eleventh (11th) draft position, and the lowest ranked playoff team in regular season standings shall hold the seventh (7th) draft position. The six (6) non-playoff teams shall be locked into their draft position derived upon their final Max Points For rankings. To compensate for their subpar and underwhelming performance, the non-playoff team with the fewest Max Points shall hold the first (1st) draft position. The non-playoff team with the most Max Points For will hold the sixth (6th) draft position.

Article. VIII.

The regular season schedule shall commence with Week One (1) of the National Football League Regular Season. Each matchup is a head-to-head matchup that shall endure for one (1) week. The Regular Season shall consist of the primary fourteen (14) weeks of the National Football League Regular Season. The first two rounds of the Dynasty Playoffs shall be held throughout the duration of weeks fifteen (15) and sixteen (16) of the National Football League Regular Season, and the Dynasty Championship shall commence during week seventeen (17).

The emerging champion of the weekly match-up shall be the team who holds the highest point total by the starting lineup, as determined by the scoring system previously defined. There does not exist a match-up tiebreaker. If a regular season match-up finds itself concluding with both teams holding scores of equal value, that match-up shall furthermore be deemed a Tie.

Article. IX.

The Dynasty Playoffs shall consist of the top six (6) teams as determined by the regular season standings. For teams who finish with equal records, the tiebreaker shall be calculated based upon the total points scored during the fourteen (14) week regular season. Each playoff matchup shall be a seven (7) day match-up. The top two (2) records as determined by the regular season standings shall hold a bye for the first week of playoff matchups. The champion of the final Dynasty Championship game shall be considered the Champion of the League for that year. The victor is eligible for a Dynasty Championship Ring to honor their coveted and prestigious Victory.

The consolation playoff bracket shall henceforth be considered the Toilet Bowl. This shall consist of the bottom six (6) teams as determined by the regular season standings. Each team that finds themself at yet another loss shall advance in the Toilet Bowl, until the Ultimate Loser for that year is crowned.

Article. X.

All formal rule changes will be decided during the offseason. The offseason period shall henceforth be considered the period between the day after the Championship and the day prior to Week One (1) of the Regular Season. To amend any rule or regulation as defined by this Constitution, or to implement another rule or regulation in this Constitution, a league member may bring their suggestion in writing to the attention of the Commissioner. The Commissioner shall subsequently present the particulars and intricacies of the proposed rule to the court of existing league members. A vote shall be held, with each of the twelve (12) Dynasty Teams receiving one (1) vote. A proposed amendment must receive eight (8) votes to pass. If a proposal does not pass with eight (8) votes, it may be brought forth in the following offseason.

Article. XI.

At the conclusion of the seventeenth (17th) week of the National Football League Regular Season and the subsequent Dynasty Championship, five (5) Young Sexy Award Winners will be named. This honor is awarded to the youngest and sexiest rookies from that Fantasy Football season. This prestigious honor is determined by the most points scored for a position from Weeks One (1) through Seventeen (17). A Young Sexy Award will be granted to a Quarterback, Running Back, Wide Receiver, Tight End, and Kicker each season. This will be denoted as a player note within the Sleeper league management software.

Article. XII.

The Office of the Commissioner is responsible for all league affairs. This includes but is not limited to scheduling the draft, handling league finances, ensuring accurate and valid rosters for all twelve (12) teams, facilitating any offseason amendment proposals, and any other responsibilities deemed necessary. The Office of the Commissioner is currently held by Riley Durbin as of the inaugural season in 2023.

If the Commissioner is no longer able to fulfill the obligations of the office, or he is deemed to be unfit to serve as the Dynasty Commissioner by the league members, a new Dynasty Commissioner shall be determined via vote. The newly elected Commissioner will assume all league duties from that date.

The Bill of Rights

Ratified July 29, 2025

1st Amendment

"The Travis Hunter Rule"

Scoring settings shall be added for defensive plays. This scoring shall be applied to offensive players that record defensive statistics. The scoring values for defensive statistics performed by offensive players shall be as follows:

Solo Tackle: 1.5
Assisted Tackle: 0.75
Tackle for Loss: 1.5
Sack: 2
Interception: 3
Interception Return Yards: 0.1 per yard
Forced Fumble: 2
Fumble Recovery: 2
Fumble Return Yards: 0.1 per yard
Touchdown: 6
Safety: 2
Pass Defended: 1.5
Blocked Punt, FG, or PAT: 2

This amendment is inspired by Travis Hunter, as he performs as both Wide Receiver and Defensive Back.

2nd Amendment

"The Draft Lottery"

The draft order for non-playoff teams shall be decided by a weighted draft lottery. The team that hath finished twelfth (12th) in the regular season standings shall have the greatest odds of receiving the first (1st) pick in the Dynasty iooi Rookie Draft. The percentage odds of each team to receive each pick shall be as follows:

1st worst: 30.0%
2nd: 25.0%
3rd: 20.0%
4th: 15.0%
5th: 7.0%
6th: 3.0%

3rd Amendment

"Playoff Draft Incentives"

Any non-championship final game in the playoffs shall now commence with a draft incentive as a consolation prize. In week sixteen (16), the winner of the fifth (5th) place game shall receive the seventh (7th) pick in the Rookie Draft, and the loser shall thereafter receive the eighth (8th) pick. In the following week in the seventeenth (17th) week, the third (3rd) place champion shall be rewarded with the ninth (9th) draft pick, and the loser of that entanglement shall receive the tenth (10th) draft pick. The Dynasty Champion shall still receive the twelfth (12th) and final draft pick, as the Champion has proved that they are the most elite team. The runner-up shall receive the eleventh (11th) draft pick. This amendment shall bestow upon playoff teams a motivation to compete in consolation games despite missing the prestigious Championship Game. In the event that a team in a playoff consolation game has previously traded away their first round draft pick for the following Rookie Draft, the manager that owns the rights to said draft pick may set the lineup of the team in the consolation game. This provision is meant to prevent such managers from intentionally surrendering a consolation game to worsen a traded draft pick. This amendment shall only apply to playoff teams.

The 2nd Bill of Rights

Ratified July 13, 2026

4th Amendment

"6th Seed by Points Scored"

At the commencement of the regular season, the sixth (6th) and final playoff spot shall henceforth be reserved for the team with the most total points scored amongst the teams ranked sixth (6th) through twelfth (12th). This shall not have any effect on the top five (5) seeds in the playoffs, which shall still be earned by manner of regular season record. Although this criteria was not met during the first three (3) Dynasty iooi seasons, this special criteria aims to reward a future outlier team that hath accrued a significant amount of fantasy points during a season despite unlucky scheduling.

5th Amendment

"Tanking Prevention"

The draft lottery birthed by the second (2nd) amendment shall be modified to rank the odds of the draft lottery for each non-playoff team. In place of the previous ranking by team regular season record, non-playoff teams shall have their lottery odds ordered by "Max Points For", which measures the highest sum of fantasy points that a team can score in a given week if all highest-scoring players were started in their respective positions. This metric is often viewed as a quantitative measurement of the quality of the team. The spirit of this amendment lies in its intention to eliminate "tanking" from Dynasty iooi, in which teams may intentionally lose games during the regular season to receive more favorable draft lottery odds. This amendment does not impact the specific odds of the draft lottery.

6th Amendment

"Turnover on Downs Scoring"

Team defenses will henceforth be rewarded with two (2) points for a forced turnover on downs. This aims to reward defenses for forcing a turnover through a fourth (4th) down stop, in the same spirit that a defense is rewarded for a turnover through interception or fumble recovery. This amendment shall be valid for as long as team defenses are included as a position in Dynasty iooi.

7th Amendment

"Points Per Carry"

Offensive players shall receive 0.1 points per carry in Dynasty iooi. The spirit of this amendment is to reward running backs of high volume for their great responsibility on the football field. It simultaneously aims to nullify the current penalty that quarterbacks receive for kneeling the football. This rule shall impact any play that is officially viewed as a "run" or "carry" by NFL scorekeepers.

8th Amendment

"Official Tiebreaker"

An official tiebreaker shall thus be declared for Dynasty iooi. Any matchup, whether in the regular season or in the playoffs, shall be decided by an official tiebreaker. There shall not be a matchup settled as a "tie". Every challenge must terminate with a win and a loss for the two participating teams. Although an exact tie has not occurred in the first three (3) seasons of Dynasty iooi, it is imperative to officially set one to preserve the dignity of the future of this league. A tie shall be broken by awarding the win to the team with the highest scoring SuperFlex bench player. A player shall be considered a SuperFlex player if they can be started as a Quarterback, Running Back, Wide Receiver, or Tight End. Notably, a team defense nor a kicker may break a tie. If the highest scoring SuperFlex player on each team has an equivalent score, the tiebreaker will continue to the second highest scoring SuperFlex player on the bench. This may continue until one team wins, or a coin toss must occur if each SuperFlex player on the bench has an equivalent score. The winner of this coin toss would be officially awarded the win in this case. Notably, any players in IR or Taxi slots must not be considered as SuperFlex bench players, as these players are not considered to be on the "active roster" during the week's matchup.

9th Amendment

"Field Goal Scoring by Yard"

The scoring for field goals shall henceforth be altered to more accurately reward the difficulty of the field goal. Field goal scoring shall be set to 0.1 points per yard for any field goal longer than thirty (30) yards. Any field goal of length thirty (30) or less shall still be awarded three (3) fantasy points. This amendment aims to properly distinguish between field goals within a ten (10) yard range, and remove distinction between field goals that are on the edge of the previous thresholds.
